

THE SPIRIT OF THE CHAMBERSBURG CONFERENCE

The Chambersburg Conference follows the "Gordon Conference" format: the registrants attend plenary morning and evening sessions, with afternoons free for elective activities. This allows a unique opportunity for informal interaction with highly-accomplished professionals in the field. Since 1982, this unique conference has offered the opportunity to forge lifelong professional relationships and friendships.

Transportation:

Wilson College is less than a two-hour drive from Washington, D.C. and Baltimore, MD, and less than three hours from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh PA. Commonly-used airports include those servicing these cities and Harrisburg PA (1 hour drive away). Ride sharing is commonly practiced, and the Conference will attempt to match all arriving attendees with available drivers at each of these airports.

Housing:

The Conference is held on the 300-acre campus of Wilson College in the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains in south central Pennsylvania. Chambersburg is a charming town with an interesting history. On-site accommodations include a clean, well-supplied dormitory room, all meals, and access to various recreational activities. Although these accommodations are very conducive to obtaining the maximum experience from the Conference, it should be noted that most of the rooms are not air-conditioned. Alternate hotel accommodations are available near-by, and more information on these will be available later.

Registration:

If you are interested in attending the Conference, or wish to obtain updated circulars on the Conference, please e-mail: millerce@idrc-chambersburg.org

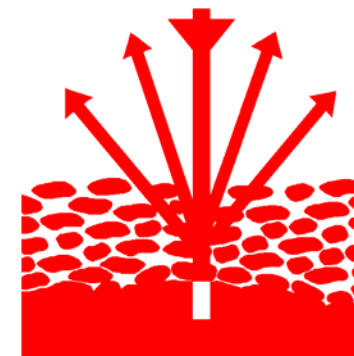

On-line registration will be available (starting in January 2010) at WWW.IDRC-CHAMBERSBURG.ORG

Early registration discounts are available if payment is received before June 30, 2010.
