

NIR Database Building and Population Structuring.

The concept

Approaches

The best approach, neighbor distance (ND) principal

Using ND to select samples to build the product database

Using ND to restructure and condense an old database

Display and statistics supporting this approach

Using the Internet to accomplish to automate the process

Summary and conclusions